

FATHER OF FOUR IN NOTE TO WIFE TELLS WHY HE ENDED LIFE

Madison Myers, South Langhorne, Worried Over
His Debts

SHOOTSELF AT MILL

Victim Presumed To Have
First Called A Physician

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Aug. 21—The father of four small children ended his life by sending a bullet through his brain at his place of employment here, Saturday afternoon.

The one whose life was so tragically snuffed out is Madison Myers, Holly avenue, husband of Catherine Cornwell Myers, and son of the late William and Anna Myers.

Reason for the deed was told in a short note to Myers' wife, written on a piece of cardboard, which lay close to his body. The young man, who is but 33 years of age, said in the missive: "Dear Catherine: I can't stand the debts any longer. I love you all."

The tragedy was first made known when a telephone call from Myers to a Langhorne physician was being followed up. Answering the young man's call to go to Myers' home and then to the mill where he was employed, a physician upon arrival at the Myers' home here was informed there was no one ill. Myers' young son, Robert, together with a little chum, Charles Dunkley, went to the mill to search for Myers, and peering through a window saw Myers' body stretched on the floor, a pool of blood beside it.

Help was secured, and the young man was found to be dead when Constable Seifert entered the Easy-Tred Rug Manufacturing Company plant where the victim was employed as a weaver. Myers had shot himself through the temple with a bullet from a 32-calibre pistol. The tragedy occurred about 1.30, shortly after Myers was seen on the streets of this borough. No one else was in the mill at the time.

Besides his wife and four children, Myers is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Ridge, of Langhorne Manor. Myers' oldest child is 11 years of age.

Constables Seifert, of South Langhorne, and Morris, of Hulmeville, as well as members of the Morrisville barracks of State Police were summoned to the scene. Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young issued a certificate stating death was due to suicide. The deceased was born in Philadelphia, and for many years resided in Hulmeville. His mother died four months ago.

Funeral will occur Wednesday afternoon from the funeral home of Roscoe L. Horner, Langhorne, with burial in Beechwood Cemetery.

ST. ANN'S WINS HONORS IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Oriola Pitches Team To Victory in Sixteen Innings

ONLY ONE RUN SCORED

(By T. M. Juno)

A single by "Monk" Oriola enabled the St. Ann's A. A. to win the championship of the Bristol Twilight League yesterday afternoon on St. Ann's field. Twelve hundred spectators were treated to one of the best twilight matches this borough ever staged. It took 16 innings before the winners were decided and only one run was scored during the match.

The tilt was a real pitchers' duel between "Mike" DeRisi, former hurler for the West Chester State Teachers' College and now of St. Ann's, and Dave Ennis, southpaw moundsman for the Hibernians. It was DeRisi's fifth straight victory in the Bristol Twilight League and his third straight shut-out win. He is unscored upon in 36 innings and is undefeated.

The Hibernians made but three hits off DeRisi yesterday and not one of these was a clean bingle. In the fourth, John Dougherty hit a boulder which DeRisi deflected enough to allow the ball to roll away from DiBlassio. In the twelfth, John Dougherty flied to left; Bormice caught the ball but crashed into Pieo and dropped the horse-head to give the batter two bases. Pieo stopped Roe's single in the fourteenth but could not retire the runner at first. DeRisi fanned fifteen batters and walked three.

Dave Ennis was deadly effective to the St. Ann's hitters in the pinches. He was found for ten hits and these accompanied with five errors put the Saints in a position to score on several occasions. But Ennis was a master in the pinch and up until the sixteenth kept the winners away from the plate.

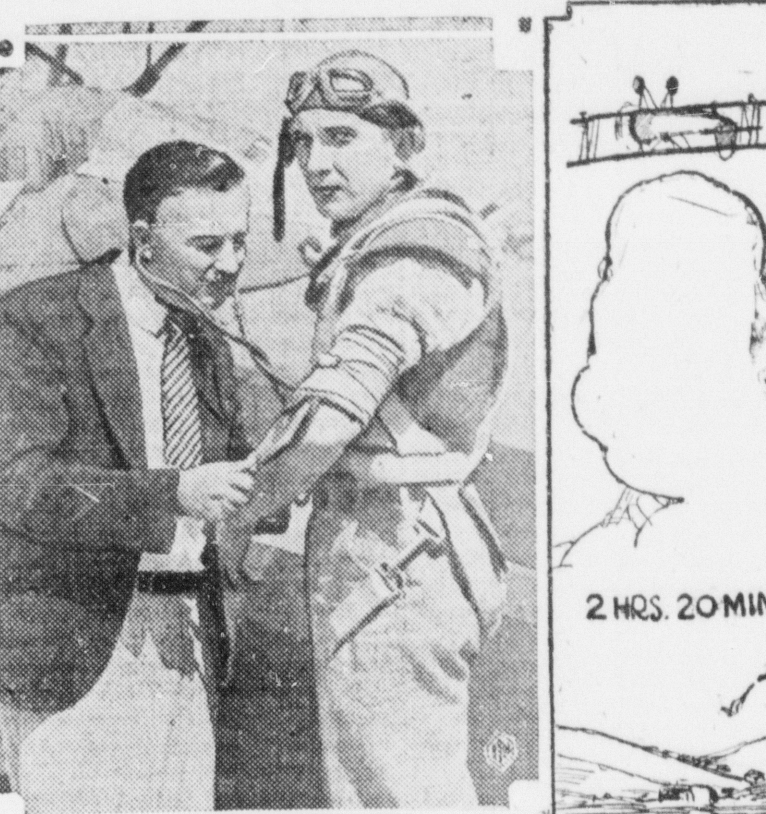

In the sixteenth, Bormice and Pieo opened with flies to the outfield. Fields started something with a single to left. He stole second. Oriola followed with the winning knock, a single to left. Oriola reached third on the play at the plate but Whyno rolled out to Ennis.

Coast Guard and Airplanes Are Engaged in The Search

NO. OF DEAD UNKNOWN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21—(INS) — Over tumbling seas strewn with the wreckage of small sailing craft, Coast Guard ships and airplanes today pressed a hunt for additional victims of a freak storm which hurried down on the New Jersey and Long Island coasts, taking the lives of at least six persons, kicking up mountainous seas and playing havoc with fishing and pleasure craft.

Three Bristolians Enjoy Trip To Cuba Unmolested

Having the good fortune to make their sight-seeing trips in and about Havana unmolested last week, three Bristol women stated upon arrival at their homes here Saturday, that their jaunt to Cuba, even in these trying times, proved most enjoyable.

The trio taking part in the journey included: Miss Edith Vandegrift, Miss Jessie Fine, and Mrs. Esther Bruner. Their stay in Cuba was for two days' duration, the party returning to New York on the T. E. L. "Morro Castle," Saturday.

The only manner in which unrest in the Cuban capital affected the localities was that they were required to be aboard the ship by eight p. m., Tuesday; and early Wednesday evening as they made their way to the ship's dock they were quickly hurried aboard.

Speaking today of the trip, Miss Vandegrift stated that Tuesday, the day of their arrival in Havana, was the first day the stores had been opened, but all night clubs remained closed. Owing to the fact the city was still under military rule the ship's passengers were not permitted on land after eight in the evening.

"We had two enjoyable sight-seeing trips, one through the city and the second a country trip. We were not molested, and the residents seemed to be continuing business as orderly as possible," said Miss Vandegrift.

Some of the "Morro Castle" passengers, eager to return to the United States, were hindered in making their way to the boat, it was told, but the Bristolians experienced no trouble in this respect. The passenger list was small, but 211 making the trip to New York.

The Bristol women saw nothing of the trouble experienced by the ship's captain and crew Wednesday evening when truck-loads of police, soldiers and marines, armed, hurried to the dock, and attempted to take over the liner's gang-plank. The party was searching for Jose Gans, Havana lawyer, and adviser of the Porro, whom it was stated had taken refuge on the ship. While legal proceedings were made for a search the boat quietly pulled out.

Machine Crash Results In Injury of Two Passengers

Both were treated by Highway Patrolman Reitz, who subsequently placed Barre under arrest on a reckless driving charge.

Barre, who was also charged with failure to stop at a through traffic signal, paid a fine of $17.25 when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Daniel Krouse, of this place.

SCIENCE ASS'N MEMBERS MAKE TREE PILGRIMAGE

Nearly 100 Tour Lower Bucks and Mercer Counties

HENRY T. MOON, PILOT

An automobile trip covering over 50 miles in central and lower Bucks County, and small part of Mercer County, N. J., during which 16 stops were made to view large and historic trees, was indulged in by nearly 100 members and friends of the Bucks County Natural Science Association, Saturday.

Piloted by Henry T. Moon, well-known Morrisville nurseryman, with distinguished guests in the party, members of the association had a thoroughly enjoyable and instructive day.

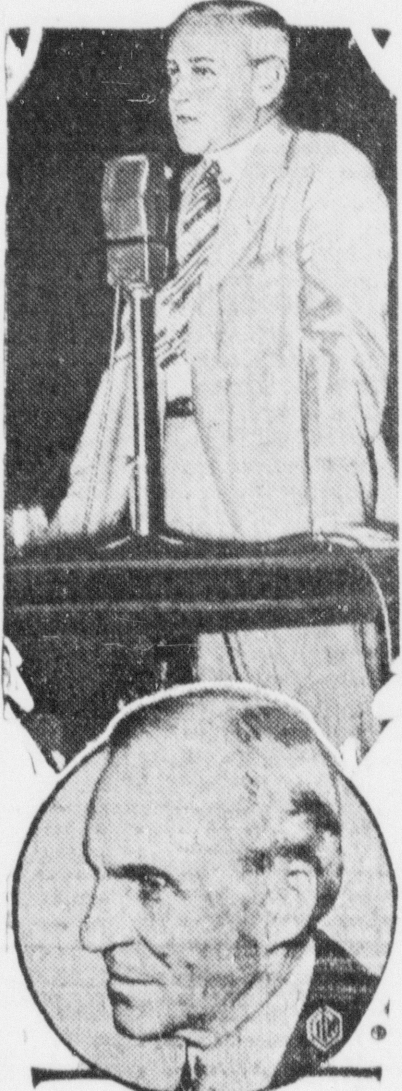

Guests of the Bucks County naturalists were: Dr. Edwin E. Wildman, author of "Penn's Trees"; Samuel Baxter, superintendent of Fairmount Park, Philadelphia; James Goodier, superintendent of Trenton, N. J. parks; Herman Cope, secretary of the Pennsylvania Parks Association. There were also among those in the caravan of cars members of other natural science societies, garden clubs, etc.

One of the trees to which particular attention was paid on the pleasant journey was a hack-berry tree at Newtown, unusually large, measuring over 20 feet in circumference.

Starting point was from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Custer, Sycamore street and Washington avenue, Newtown, where the men and women assembled under a large but-wood tree.

Stop number two was at the farm of Stanley Luff, near Wrightstown, where a "Penn" white oak was visited. On this mammoth of the early forest is carved a letter "P", which served as a marker in an early survey made by Penn's commissioners. The next visit was 7½ miles further on where a Sour Gum-Nyssa Sylvatica on the William P. Balderston farm was viewed. Next came Hackberry-Celtis Occidentalis, commonly referred to as a hack-berry tree, the largest plant of

SECODA BARN PREY TO FLAMES IN BENSALERM

Blaze Believed to Have Been the Work of An Incendiary

LOSS IS PUT AT $5,000

A $5,000 barn fire one-half mile south of Flushing in Bensalem Township, Saturday, shortly before midnight, attracted close to 1500 people to the scene. In the conflagration a large barn on the property of Frank Secoda, a garage and a portion of a truck shed were destroyed, the firemen being considerably hampered in their efforts by the huge crowd which milled about the premises.

The blaze is thought to have been caused by an incendiary, adding another to the large list of fires attributed to such in lower Bucks county during several weeks.

Fire-fighters affiliated with Cornwells Heights, Croydon, Newportville, Hulmeville, Newport Terrace companies worked hard at the scene, pumping water from a large cistern on the place. Flames had gained great headway when discovered by the owner, but the firemen were successful in saving a portion of the truck shed. Two horses, the only live-stock in the structure, and some pieces of machinery were saved by Secoda, who hurried to the structure after noticing the flames as he glanced out the window. Members of the family sent calls to fire companies as the farmer hurried from the house.

The fire evidently started in the rear of the frame barn, then spread to the truck shed and later to the garage. There were no automobiles in the latter building.

Ten tons of hay, and seeds, also fell prey to the flames, as well as some machinery. The owner stated he had left the barn premises several hours before, and was ready to retire when upon looking from the window he saw the flames issuing from the structure.

Two men, said to be demented, and who were identified as escaped inmates from Philadelphia County Hospital, Byberry, were picked up at Hulmeville and Bristol roads, yesterday at five a. m., and closely questioned by Bucks County fire marshal and others regarding the Secoda fire. No information of a definite nature could be secured regarding the fire. The men had been brought to the municipal building here by Constable Orville Morris, Hulmeville, and were later returned to Byberry Hospital. They had been missing since Saturday noon.

LANGHORNE BOY, 8, INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Andrew Irwin Meets Death
When His Skull Is Crushed by Wheels

NO ARREST IS MADE

Driver of Car is Miss Marie
Adams, Bridgetown
Pike

LANGHORNE, Aug. 21—A lad of eight years, struck by an automobile here yesterday noon, met instant death when hurled to the ground with the wheels of the machine passing over his head. The child's skull was crushed.

The victim is: Andrew Irwin, who resided at the home of Mrs. Davidson, 131 East Maple avenue.

Officers investigating the case state that it is believed the boy's parents are dead, the child's temporary home having been secured through a child welfare organization.

The driver of the car inflicting the fatal blow was Miss Marie Adams, 24, of Bridgetown Pike. No charge has been lodged against the young woman. Miss Adams was driving a sedan north on Bellevue avenue when the tragedy occurred.

According to Miss Adams, and the only other eye-witness, Frank C. Cornell, 301 Bellevue avenue, the Irwin boy ran from the rear of a parked car into the path of the Adams automobile. Before the driver had an opportunity to bring the vehicle to a halt, the lad lay lifeless on the street.

The body of the little victim was taken to the office of a local physician, who pronounced the child dead. The body was then removed to a local morgue.

Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young, of Bristol, was called in the case.

Highway patrolman Vincent J. Coughlin, of South Langhorne, investigated the case.

Relatives and Church Group Pay Respects on Birthday

CROYDON, Aug. 21—In the best of health, and exhibiting his usual cheerful disposition, Frederick Curtis passed his 95th mile-stone at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fredericks, here, yesterday.

In the evening Harry Collins called, presenting to Mr. Curtis a bouquet of flowers, the gift of Wilkinson Memorial M. E. Church. The Rev. Howard Oursler, pastor, also paid Mr. Curtis a visit, reading to him the 91st Psalm, the final verse of which reads, "With long life will I satisfy, and show him my salvation." The Scripture reading was followed by prayer by the Rev. Oursler, and singing of hymns by the group assembled.

Mr. Curtis' eye-sight is excellent, and his chief pastime is reading. Frequently he reads for long periods without using eye-glasses.

this variety on record in this section. It is thought a spring nearby might have influenced its growth, but nevertheless it is known to be of extreme age. This tree is located on the Gallagher Farm, one half mile from the Balderston place.

Turning toward Yardley and across the Delaware River to Mercer County, N. J., then to the outskirts of Trenton, an American Beech-Fagus Ferruginea was seen. The conformation, size and outline of this tree were noted particularly. A short distance beyond a swamp white oak (Quercus bicolor), rare in beauty and outline, was visited.

On the lawn of the home of Mrs. Edward B. Parsons, West State and North Fisher Place, Trenton, a Tulip Poplar (Liriodendron tulipifera), a tree of extreme age and size was viewed. This is classed among the largest poplars recorded, known to be very old. There too was seen a rare specimen of Crepe Myrtle-Layerstomia indica.

In passing the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Blackwell, "Greenwood," River Road, on the Pennsylvania side, another wonderful specimen of the tulip poplar was called to the attention of the party. The circumference of this tree was slightly less than the Parson poplar.

Lunch was partaken of at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Moon, "Glenwood," Morrisville, where three trees were also examined. These were: American ash; black walnut; and black locust.

While travelling through Fallsington, en route to the Bolton Farm at Emille, members of the Natural Science Association and their guests, paid particular attention to the old trees at the Friends Meeting House grounds. At Bolton Farm, home of Edgingham B. Morris, there was seen an American buttonwood, an unusual specimen of extreme size. The size of this tree, it was stated by Mr. Moon, was abnormally influenced by the constant moisture at its roots. This was the largest tree seen on the tour.

Travelling through Emille, Midway, and on to Mudtown Lane, the caravan halted at the Taylor white oak, the largest white oak in Bucks County, the monarch of the day's journey.

Next stop was at the home of Mrs. Oghorn, Bridgewater, where a honey locust (Gleditsia triacanthos) was to be seen.

An American elm at St. Elizabeth's Convent, Cornwells Heights, was viewed with much awe, the specimen bringing to Bucks County a touch of New England. This is one of the treasures in trees of Lower Bucks.

Final halt occurred for the party at the estates of Fred Lennig, Rufus Lennig and Charles J. Biddle, along the Delaware River at Andalusia. A pleasant hour was spent in exploring the lawns and gardens of these three show-places. The 16th and final tree of the trip, on the Lennig estate, was a pin oak (Quercus palustris).

The majestic trees on the Lennig and Biddle properties were eagerly admired, and on the Biddle estate the walled gardens with boxhush and wisteria in abundance proved most attractive.

The tour was arranged for the pleasure of the Natural Science Association upon their request to Mr. Moon. Mr. Moon was ably assisted in the tour by his son, Howard B. Moon.

Battle of Century Forecast In New York Mayoralty Race

Tammany and Fusion Rivals

With the selection of former Congressman Fiorello LaGuardia as Fusionist candidate for Mayor of New York, Tammany Hall is faced with the hardest fight it has been called upon to encounter since the days of Boss Croker. The Tammany Tiger is on the spot this year with a vengeance, for never before has there been such an outcry among reformers to wrest the city from control of the dominant Democratic machine. Mayor John P. O'Brien, the incumbent, is selected to carry the Tammany standard in the fight. LaGuardia, an inveterate Tammany foe, is a former President of the Board of Aldermen, a World War aviator and a former unsuccessful candidate for Mayor. He was beaten by James J. Walker in the 1925 election.

NEW YORK (I. L. N.)—With polling day still more than three months off, this city is metaphorically sitting back in its seat to enjoy what is expected to be the political battle of the century.

TAMMANY ON SPOT

For the first time in 16 years many years the political machine controlled by Tammany Hall has a real fight on its hands, what with the Republicans and Fusionists moving in a solid phalanx to attack it from all sides.

Although his selection is not definite yet, Mayor John O'Brien is almost certain to be the Tammany standard-bearer. John F. Curry, generalissimo of the Hall, is said to favor O'Brien, and what Curry favors generally comes to pass.

However, non-Tammany Democrats are opposed to O'Brien. They charge he reneged on his promise to cut waste and extravagance in the city government and for that reason they swing to former Congressman Fiorello LaGuardia, radical Republican and Fusionist candidate.

FIERY FIGHTER

LaGuardia, the anti-Tammanyites assert, is the one man who stands a chance of "emancipating the city" from the hands of Tammany Hall. He is a fighter every inch, although his inches are not many. An aviator in the World War, former President of the Board of Aldermen, and former Representative of the Twentieth Congressional District, the 33-year-old Fusionist candidate has a knack of overcoming heavy odds.

PICTURESQUE CAREER

LaGuardia was born in the Southwest of Italian immigrant parents. His father was a bandmaster in the U. S. Army, and most of Fiorello's early education was obtained at schools in South Dakota and Arizona.

Entering the consular service when he was 20, LaGuardia was assigned to the staff of the American Consulate at Budapest. In 1914 he was made vice-consul at Fiume, his mother's birthplace. His experience abroad helped him to become an accomplished linguist.

After three years in the Consular Service, LaGuardia returned to the U. S. For a time he held a job as interpreter at Ellis Island, New York, during which time he studied law at New York University. He was admitted to the bar in 1916. Defeated in some of his first law suits, he blamed Tammany influence. His enmity for the dominant Democratic machine dates from that time.

SOUGHT MAYORALTY

LaGuardia's rise in politics was rapid. The large Italian vote coupled with his aggressive manner won him office after office. From 1915 to 1917 he served as a Deputy Attorney General, and astounded the old line leaders by being elected to Congress in a district that had been consistently Democratic. During the war LaGuardia piloted a bombing plane on the Austro-Italian border. He left the army with the rank of Major.

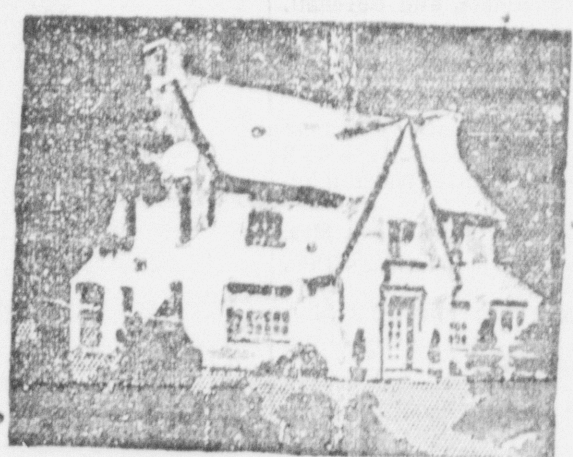

In 1921, LaGuardia entered the Republican primaries for Mayor, but was defeated. The Presidential campaign of 1924 found him supporting the late Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, the Progressive candidate. Denied nomination by the G. O. P., LaGuardia ran on the Socialist and Progressive tickets and was re-elected. In 1929, he ran for Mayor against James J. Walker, Tammany candidate, but again he knew the sting of defeat. At the time he remarked: "I was too radical for a lot of Republicans; so they voted for Norman Thomas."

"OLD TIMERS" BLANKS
BRISTOL A. A., 7 TO 0

Ted Roper was in excellent form on Sullivan's field yesterday afternoon as the Bristol Old-Timers blanked the Bristol A. A. team, 7-0. The game was a benefit tray for the American Legion Cadets. Roper allowed the A. A. club but five hits and kept them fairly well scattered.

The Old-Timers made eight hits from the delivery of "Doc" Diehm. "Sammy" Dietrich and Ratcliffe led the hitters with two hits each. McDevitt played well as shortstop.

Emilie A. A. chalked up its tenth straight win on the Emilie field yesterday when the nine scored a 6-4 triumph over the Immaculata C. C., of Philadelphia.

The Immaculata team scored three runs in the ninth when Watson weakened and walked two batters and another reached first on an error. Lombardi then doubled to clean the sacks. "Fay" Still, however, came to the rescue by taking over Brennan's drive in centerfield for the final put-out.

Bilger led the Emilie hitters with a triple and single, while Lombardi had a double and two singles to lead the Immaculata nine.

The Newport Road Men's Club defeated the Jones A. C. on the Newportville field yesterday. Final score was 7-4. The losers out-hit the winners, 15-7. Prindol and Levinski made three hits each for Jones while Kenny, Zeigler, and Crossley had two hits apiece for the Newporters.

St. Ann's Wins Honors
In Twilight League

The Hibs almost captured the first in the fourteenth. Connors, the first hitter, worked DeRisi for a pass. He was forced by Rodgers at second base. Ennis sacrificed Rodgers to second. Roe hit a single past Pieo and Rodgers made an attempt to score. He was nailed at the plate, Pieo to Angelo, on a very close play.

Tony DiBlassio again played a bang-up game at second base for the winners. He made one error in thirteen tries. Pieo also aided on the defense with eight assists and a putout without an error. DeRisi had nine assists. "Joie" Roe was a bulwark on the defense for the losers. He handled seven hard chances, all at crucial time of play. Ennis, himself, made eight assists. The Hibs made five errors to the St. Ann's three, and were credited with two double plays.

With the win the Saints are the Twilight League champions and will meet the Lower Bucks County League champions. The first game of the Lower Bucks County League series will be played on St. Ann's field, Tuesday night, at six o'clock.

Present Social Problems
Dealt With in Film Here

An unusual solution to the problem of training delinquent youths in the state reformatory is offered in the Warner Bros. picture, "The Mayor of Hell," James Cagney's latest starring picture which comes to the Grand Theatre tonight.

The picture first presents a revelation of conditions in the reformatory almost as shocking as those seen in "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang." The solution is provided by a pretty nurse, who prevails on a ward healer politician through his love for her, to put it into effect. After kicking out the grafters, the political boss institutes a plan of self government by which the boys rule themselves. They hold regular elections and name all the community officials such as mayor, chief of police, judge, treasurer, etc.

The glowing romance and the eventual working out of a system which the boys carry on with enthusiasm, lends a bright touch to a production that pictures with grim realism the cruelties practiced on boys of tender years.

Five-Year-Old Youngster
Lifts 200-Lb. Man Here

A five-year-old boy lifted a 200-pound man with two fingers Friday at the store of C. W. Winter, local representative for Frigidaire, subsidiary of General Motors.

The feat was accomplished before an interested crowd to demonstrate the new automatic tray release, an exclusive Frigidaire feature, by which ice trays are freed merely with the touch of a finger.

To demonstrate how easily this is accomplished, Mr. Winter removed a tray with its mechanism from a stock Frigidaire, then called on a man weighing 200 pounds to stand on it. He then asked little Buddy McIlvaine to come forward and push the release mechanism. The boy touched the release handle with two fingers, pressed down and—presto—the man was raised from the table on which the apparatus had been placed.

The automatic tray release removes from the electric refrigerator one of the bugbears of the past—the task of "breaking out" the ice trays. Now, merely through a slight pull on the tray releaser, the trays slide out quickly and without effort.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Mulholland, 1511 Farragut avenue, entertained Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mulholland, and son, William, Miss Anna Clayton and Mrs. Catherine Lewis, Trenton, N. J.

Why—

You're always saying Chesterfields taste better

—I wish you'd tell me why

Well, I've worked in tobacco; I've manufactured cigarettes . . . and I'll tell you why Chesterfields taste better.

For a cigarette to have a good taste, it must have first the right kind of Domestic tobacco. This means ripe, mellow, sweet tobacco, filled with Southern sunshine. Then, blended and cross-blended with this tobacco there must be the right quantity of the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco . . . tobacco that has a pleasing flavor and aroma.

Aroma, as you know, adds to the taste. It's just like the pleasing aroma from certain foods. It's appetizing. It makes the food taste better. It makes the cigarette taste better.

Then again, for a cigarette to have a good taste, it must be made right. The size, the cigarette paper, everything about it must be right.

Just try Chesterfields.
